

Do you have a special memory of your son or daughter from when they were younger that made you do a double take and wonder if you had just heard that correctly? Share it! I'd like to put something together for the students to show them you've known all along that there was something extraordinary inside just waiting to blossom as they grew older.

Feel free to leave as many stories or anecdotes as you'd like. Names are encouraged, but not necessary!

“You know you’re the parent of a gifted child when...
